Dear Zach's Place Families,

I hope this message finds you and your loved ones well. My name is Bill Carroll, and I am honored to introduce myself as the new Director of Zach's Place.

First and foremost, I want to express my gratitude for the warm welcome I've already received from the team here. It is clear that Zach's Place is more than a program, it's a vibrant, compassionate community, and I'm thrilled to be part of it. As returning families, you are the heart of that community, and I look forward to getting to know each of you as we continue serving your amazing children together.

A bit about me: I come into Zach's Place with a background in both education and leadership. I began my career in special education and have served as an elementary teacher, school principal, and most recently, a director at an assisted living facility. While each of these roles has shaped me, I'm especially excited to return to my roots in education and support the children and families of Zach's Place.

Outside of work, my wife Teresa and I keep busy with our four energetic boys: John, Andrew, Thomas, and Peter. We love board games, sports, and soaking up Colorado's beautiful outdoors.

In the coming weeks, I'll be reaching out with more details about our programming and upcoming events. In the meantime, please know that my door is always open. I deeply value your insights, experiences, and hopes for your children, and I welcome any opportunity to connect. My email is bcarroll@sksfcolorado.org and my number is 719-427-6451 ext. 03. Please feel free to contact me with any questions you might have.

Thank you again for being such an important part of the Zach's Place community. I look forward to working together to ensure every child continues to feel seen, supported, and celebrated.

Warmly,

Bill Carroll

Director, Zach's Place
